HCI's on- going commitments

Tsunami has captured our immediate attention to rise to the occasion and act. However, our on-going projects which are essential to the maintenance of hundreds of disabled children should not be affected in the process. HCI's staff is working diligently to strike a balance. Our volunteer Ms. Charu Shankar has come forward to perform a benefit concert on March 26, 2005 at The Medical Sciences Auditorium, U of T at 6:30 PM.

Charu's heart was captured by the ambience of Amar Seva Sangam, when she visited the facility in early 2004. She was impressed by the loving care, efficiency and commitment that were apparent at that institution and decided to help raise $44,000 to build a centre for the "Mentally challenged" children. This centre will offer shelter and unique state of the art program for the affected children by implementing the most modern and effective approach to treat these children and provide support for the families. This facility will be extension of all the services provided for the disabled. Handi-Care Intl. has supported all the projects of Amar Seva Sangam since our inception.
