Facts:

Though millions of dollars have been collected by major orgs across Canada, to help Tsunami victims, only a fraction has gone to India.

Aid wasted, report says, Only 20 per cent of tsunami relief getting to those in need: read Toronto Star article.

Donors do not have access to info as to how the donations were handled, where and when.

What is HCI's commitment?

How an organization responds to a crisis truly shows how committed it is to charitable causes. Although HCI's main focus is on disability issues, the directors of HCI sprung in to action as soon as they became aware of the Tsunami disaster.

HCI has taken the onus upon itself to have tangible evidence of its commitment. The obligation will extend further over the next few years to ensure the comfortable settlement of the survivors. Donors will be able to visit and see the results of their kindness.

HCI is responding to the call for help to rebuild, 80 houses in Cuddalore Dist., Tamil Nadu, India

Name of Village: Pillumedu

Project:

- Construction of 80 disaster resistant homes with sturdy roofs.
- Construction of roads with storm water drains, rain water harvesting facilities, drinking water supplies, solid waste disposal pits, sanitary complex, community center and street lighting.
- Land for relocation will be provided free of cost by the Govt.
- HCI will undertake this endeavor enlisting the help of a partner NGO (Non governmental
org) in India.
